

Happy New Year to Our PTN Sites and Investigators

In closing the book on 2012, I'd like to take a moment to reflect on all that we have accomplished in the past year. Three new protocols were finalized, 6 trials enrolled over 1100 patients, 3 trials completed enrollment and are in the analysis phase, and our first clinical study report (for metronidazole) was submitted to the FDA. Additionally, 2012 saw the renewal of the pediatric legislation that makes all of this work possible. But we couldn't have done any of it without the dedication and hard work of our sites and investigators.

In this issue of the PTN Post, we tip our hats to the individuals who helped to make 2012 a terrific year for the Pediatric Trials Network. Thank you for your commitment to improving medicine for children. We look forward to continuing our collaboration in 2013.

Sincerely,

*Danny Benjamin, MD, PhD, MPH,
Lead Principal Investigator*

The Pediatric Trials Network (PTN) is made possible by the Best Pharmaceuticals for Children Act (BPCA). The BPCA, first enacted in 2002, provides mechanisms for studying on- and off-patent drugs in children. Visit us on the web at www.pediatrictrials.org.

The Pediatric Trials Network is supported by The Eunice Kennedy Shriver National Institute of Child Health and Human Development, National Institutes of Health, and U.S. Department of Health and Human Services.
